

Racism and America

No, I'm not an American. I'm one of the 22 million black people who are the victims of Americanism. One of the 22 million black people who are the victims of democracy, nothing but disguised hypocrisy. So, I'm not standing here speaking to you as an American, or a patriot, or a flag-saluter, or a flag-waver—no, not I. I'm speaking as a victim of this American system. And I see America through the eyes of the victim. I don't see any American dream; I see an American nightmare. from "The Ballot or the Bullet" Malcom X African-American Muslim minister

... The progressive narrative and that is all about victimhood. They're either a victim of race. They're victim of their sexual preference. They [African Americans] ... are all about victimhood and the United States is the great oppressor, not the great liberator. Steve Bannon - American media executive, political figure, former investment banker, and the former executive chairman of Breitbart News

Like insecure people everywhere, they [African Americans] are driven by a private sense of personal inadequacy to seeing imaginary obstacles to their success supposedly planted by others. John H. McWhorter American academic who is Associate Professor of English and Comparative Literature at Columbia University

We're so hung up on this notion that we [White Americans] have some obligation to help the struggling black man, you know. Cut him some slack until he can overcome these historical injustices. It's crap. I mean, Christ, Lincoln freed the slaves, like, what? 130 years ago. How long does it take to get your act together? Derek Vinyard - fictional character from the movie "American History X"

Searchable: Racism in America, Overt Racism, Minority discrimination, Job discrimination, Black Lives Matter, Police Violence against Minorities, Black Violence

Immigration and America

We cannot continue to allow immigrants to come here illegally. And in this age of terrorism, we must not let in refugees whose intentions cannot be determined.

Nikki Haley - American politician

Illegal immigration is crisis for our country. It is an open door for drugs, criminals, and potential terrorists to enter our country.

It is straining our economy, adding costs to our judicial, healthcare, and education systems.

Timothy Murphy - American politician

Do we really like each other? Do we really love each other? ... Whenever many different races are in the same school, what will happen is that there'll be a natural segregation at lunchtime, at PE.... Richard Spencer - president of the National Policy Institute

... we've had immigration in the past.... It's brought division... we need to become a people again. And for us to do that, we're going to need to take a break from mass immigration.

Richard Spencer - president of the National Policy Institute

“What can be simpler or more accurately stated? The Mexican Government is forcing their most unwanted people into the United States. They are, in many cases, criminals, drug dealers, rapists, etc.” Donald Trump, statement about his June 16 comments, July 6, 2015

There should not be a question of legal or illegal immigration. People came and immigrated to this country from the time of the Indians. No one's illegal. They should just be able to come.

Linda Ronstadt - American popular music singer

The immigration issue is, I recognize, one that generates a lot of passion, but it does not make sense for us to want to push talent out.

Barack Obama

Searchable: Illegal Immigration, Legal Immigration, Border patrol, Violence in Central America, Reasons People Immigrate, Immigration and Terrorism, segregation in school, immigration discrimination